Series of Meetings to be Held to Thresh Out City Occupational Tax

Measure to Be Discussed and Each Part Taken Up Separately — First Meeting Tonight — Ordinance Expected to Come to Vote at Next Regular Meeting

Because the occupational tax measure proposed here is such a lengthy one, city councilmen have agreed to divide the ordinance into five parts, it was announced today.

The council members will meet on Wednesday and Friday nights of this week and Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights of next week, taking a different section of the ordinance under consideration each night.

At the next regular meeting, if all the provisions of the ordinance meet with the satisfaction of the council, the measure will probably be passed and put into effect.

TOMORROW IS LAST DAY FOR TAX RETURNS

Tomorrow is the last day to make personal property returns in order to secure the $100 exemption allowed. The law allows this amount to be deducted from the total property value, to those who make returns between April 13 and May 1, both dates inclusive.

The county auditor, Charles M. Dawson's office was crowded all day Wednesday with those who waited until the eleventh hour to make returns. The auditor declared yesterday that the number of returns made up to that time was small.

PREDICT FARM POPULATION OF COUNTY WILL DECREASE

Change in Cropping System Points to Smaller Number of Farmers, Specialists Say

The future will bring a further decrease in farm population in Coshocton-co and counties nearby. This is the prediction of specialists in the extension department of Ohio State University, as the result of a recent conference held for the purpose of discussing how farmers have changed their cropping systems within the past 25 years, and to what extent they will change them in the near future.

Other predictions for the counties of the southeastern section are that dairying will increase to some extent, and legumes along with it. Pasture improvement, say the specialists, is one of the greatest needs of this section.

Predictions for the other sections of the state are:

Southwestern section: Corn and hogs will remain most important. Other feeds necessary for the development of the swine industry will have to be grown. Market

Romance Broken After Five Weeks Arnold States

Manuel Arnold asks for a divorce from Sarah Arnold in a petition filed in probate court today.

Ever since their marriage, the plaintiff alleges, the defendant has refused to be a wife to him. She has been guilty of gross neglect of duty, he avers, and states that on April 26, after only five weeks of marriage, she abandoned him.

The plaintiff asks that she be barred of any alimony.

Attorney C. Homer Durand represents the plaintiff.

Wisehaupt Talks at Kiwanis Club

Coshocton business men who attended the regular noonday meeting of the Kiwanis Club today were told in a talk given by Howard J. Wisehaupt, business analysist, that it is mental attitude that makes good and bad business.

Mr Wisehaupt is here this week making a series of lectures at the public library, under the auspices of the Coshocton Business Men's Association.

"The man who says 'It can't be done,' Mr. Wisehaupt declared, is whipped from the start, but the one who says 'It can be done' is bound to accomplish his purpose. The spirit of comeback is the greatest necessity to good business."

Mr. Wisehaupt also touched on the subject of law making. "The business men are not voting," he said. "They are overrun in the legislative halls by the law makers. There are too many laws now, and what is needed in the legislature is more business men who will weed out the undesirable laws and enforce the remainder.

"Every full blooded American will vote this year for the man instead of the party," Mr. Wisehaupt declared.

Mr. Wisehaupt spoke highly of the various noonday club meetings stating that they are the greatest factor in bringing business men into pleasant personal contact with each other.

BERGMAN SAYS WIFE MARRIED FOR HIS MONEY

Alleges She Ridiculed U. S., "Entertains" Him with Vulgarity of London "Pub"

A sensational answer and cross petition in the case of Edith Bergman vs. Edward F. Bergman, was filed in probate court this morning by Attorney C. Homer Durand, counsel for the defense.

Bergman admits that he has accused his wife of misconduct, but denies that his accusations were without foundation.

In his cross petition the defendant charges extreme cruelty. Mrs. Bergman, he charges, possesses a violent and ungovernable temper and nags at and curses the defendant. It is averred that one of her pet diversions is to criticise this government and country, ridicule its laws, customes and courts, and draw invidious and odious comparisons between America and Great Britain, the land of her birth.

Bergman alleges that before their marriage the plaintiff was a barmaid in a third-class London "pub," and one of her practices is to entertain him with profanity and vulgarity acquired in her early environment, he says.

It is also charged that she has

ISLETA TO FIGHT FOR RY. AGENCY

Written Protests Against Pennsy's Proposal to Close Station Are Circulated

Written protests against the plan to change the Pennsylvania railroad station at Isleta from an agency to a non-agency, have been prepared by Isleta citizens and are being circulated among the residents of the vicinity for signatures.

A petition for permission to make such a change was just recently filed by the railroad company with the state utilities commission.

If the change is made, residents of the vicinity point out that it will work a real hardship on the many shippers who now use the station.

All incoming freight and express shipments will have to be prepaid, they point out, and every receiver of goods will be obliged to keep a watch for his goods to arrive, for there will be no railroad protection after they are unloaded from the car. They will be subject to damage by the weather and to theft unless the owner is at the station when they arrive.

Cream and milk shippers, of which there are said to be many at Isleta, will have to stay at the station with their shipments, and load them on the train. Shipments will have to be billed from Newcomerstown, causing additional trouble and expense.

Other inconvenient features which it is declared will result from a closed office at Isleta, are outlined in bulletins posted at the stores of F. A. Richmond at Orange and Noah Loos at Isleta, and copies of the protest against the contemplated action are also available there.

The people of the community are hoping to put up a successful fight against the railroad company's petition when it comes up for a hearing at Columbus May 20.

The passenger business is of little importance at Isleta they admit but they declare that it never was, even before the bus lines began to operate. It is for their mail, cream express and freight business that they are fighting, they say.

Nellie Fern Williams has filed a petition for divorce from Glenn Williams, in probate court.

The couple were married at Coshocton on December 25, 1917, the plaintiff states, and have two children, Ruth Maxine, aged five years, and Eleanor Joyce, aged three years.

BODIES OF 78 MINERS FOUND

Rescue Teams Work Hampered by Flooding of Benwood, W. Va. Workings; Jury on the Scene

WHEELING, W. Va., April 30.—A total of 78 bodies have been accounted for out of the 111 who lost their lives in the explosion in the Benwood mine of the Wheeling Steel Corporation at noon. Acting Coroner Paul Reidel at that time announced that in addition to the 44 bodies in the morgue, 34 others had been located and brot to the foot of the Brown's Run shaft.

A new complication it was stated had been encountered in the rescue work as the result of the appearance of large volumes of water in the workings.

The road from the Brown's Run entry to the head of the paved road on Boggs Run, where the temporary morgue has been established, was today declared to be almost impassable as the result of the travel with wagons and sleds, and rains today. Vehicles sink hub deep in the mud, and the last vehicles to make the trip at 1:30 this morning required four and six horses to drag their ghastly burdens down to the temporary morgue.

The coroner's jury on duty at the mine until 1:30 this morning at 9.30 resumed their duties at the morgue in this city where the 44 bodies are resting. At noon they returned to the Brown's Run entry to be present when the work of hoisting the dead from the 400 foot pit is started.

COLUMBUS, April 29—Voting in the presidential preferential primaries today is light thruout the entire state, especially in rural districts where far below normal interest is shown, early reports received here indicated.

McAdoo headquarters today predicted that the former secretary of the treasury would defeat former Governor Cox for the Democratic endorsement by 50,000 votes and elect 26 district delegates and 7 delegates-at-large to the national convention.

Cox supporters visioned an overwhelming victory, as did the supporters of President Coolidge. Supporters of Hiram Johnson continued to concentrate upon an attempt to defeat Harry M. Daugherty as delegate-at-large.

Election officials here were of the opinion that not more than 35,000 votes would be cast in Columbus. Others saw an even lighter vote.

JUST MARRIED

FINE FARCE AT WELLER THEATRE FRIDAY EVENING

A large number of Zanesville theatregoers will sorry to learn that they missed the best comedy of the season at the Weller theatre last night. "Just Married," a honeymoon farce by Adelaide Matthews and Anne Nichols, was approved by all who saw it. While the audience was not large, it was very enthusiastic and the actors weref orced to respond to many curtain calls.

The company was a brilliant one, and altho the original stars of the piece—Vivian Martin and Lynn Overman—were absent, their places were ably filled by Owen Martin and Sylvia LeFrankie.

The three acts and four scenes were a series of amusing occurrences aboard a liner between France and America. Robert Adams, a trifle inebrated, occupies the same stateroom the first night out with Miss Roberta Adams, fiancee of Percy Jones. The discovery that they are married and the later discovery that they are not, furnishes laughs for over two hours.

The supporting cast was excellent and the work of Fred James and Dorothea Howard as Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stanley, honeymooners, quarreling on their wedding night; Butler Hixon as Percy Jones, a jealous lover, who later is discovered by the girl he jilted; Joseph Lawrence and Eliabeth Rathburn as Mr. and Mrs. U. Makepeace, married 29 years and still fighting, and Emilie Montrase as the French girl seeking her runaway lover, was the best ever seen in Zanesville. The play contains more laughs and funnier situations than "Twin Beds."—Signal.

Just Married Was Laugh Provoker; Very Few Saw it

Hilarious Comedy Was Much Appreciated by the Few Who Were There

Zanesville muffed another good one. If you can picture one "souse" saying to another, "I can't help you up, but I can lie down with you," you can form some idea of one of the hundred or so ludicrous situations abounding in "JUST MARRIED" at the Weller Friday evening, but then unless you saw it you cannot appreciate our telling it for no one could do this comedy justice in telling. It simply must be seen.

It was thot that the mere mention of the name, Anne Nichols, as co-author would be sufficient to pack the house but such was not the case and Zanesville will be one of the very few towns on a tour of 50 weeks that did not turn out capacity business for this show.

Every member of the cast was perfect in this delightful comedy. Even the deck walkers couldn't be improved upon. However the work of Miss Sylvia De Frankie as Miss Roberta Adams and Owen Martin as Robert Adams, Miss Dorothea Howard as Mrs. Jack Stanley, Fred James as Jack Stanley and Miss Emilie Montrase as Victoire Bertain could not have been improved upon.

"JUST MARRIED" can be classed among the successes of the season from an artistic standpoint but it is to weep when one thinks of the crowd.—Sunday Times-Signal.

As Many Laughs As "The First Year," "Thank U," or "Abies' Irish Rose." Excellent Cast. The Last Comedy of the Season, A Guaranteed Attraction.

Sixth St. Theatre

"JUST MARRIED"

There is an uncommon degree of interest in the engagement of "Just Married," that Jules Hurtig in association with the Messrs. Shubert will offer at the Sixth st Theatre on Friday, May 2.

It is said at the theatre that few announcements of any attraction in any season have stirred the attraction that has been manifested in "Just Married." Unusual interest is warranted by the nature of the offering and the fame of the comedy. "Just Married" is one of the biggest popular success of the present century. It is one of those comedies that fortunate producers find now and then, but not often, and with which they leap right to the heart of public approval. "Just Married" is a hit. It delighted all New York in a two year run there, and duplicated its great Metropolitan success in Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston. The play was written by Adelaide Matthews and Anna Nichols, authors of "Scrambled Wives" and "Nightie Night" and the story is one of the most laughable ever presented on the stage. There is an abundance of genuine wit and humor, there is romance in several love stories, there is swift and enticing action, there are original and striking scenic effects, and there are as amusing characters as ever shown in a play. This is the only company.

"THE COVERED WAGON"

While screen dramas frankly endeavor to supply thrills it is not so often that they do so without trying. What gets under your skin in "The Covered Wagon" is the long wagon train itself—a creeping caravan of rugged courage. When it moves you feel that the destiny of a nation moves with it. The picture is proving a tremendous success and is booked at the 6th St. Theatre for Saturday, May 3, matinee and night.

The power of the motion picture camera to transform imagery into reality has never been exemplified as it is in this film. At least it has been used on a subject so huge and so fitted to arouse the slumbering emotion of genuine patriotism.

It is a more wholesome story than "The Birth of a Nation," more truly American than would be a film depicting the landing of the Pilgrims.

The years, 1848-49, are as deeply stamped in American history, perhaps, as any other period even including that of 1776. The story of the sweep across the continent, for the opening of Oregon and the wresting of gold from California is one of the high romantic chapters of western chronicle to which every human being of the iron-railed and paved street age responds. The men, women and children of 1848-49 lived an epic, and it is the spirit of this epic, the magnitude and meaning and vivid reality of it, that James Cruze and his associates have caught and preserved in "The Covered Wagon."

INGROWN TOE NAIL TURNS OUT ITSELF

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

PREMATURE OLD AGE OF WOMEN

It is no secret that so many women suffer from ailments peculiar to their sex. Dark circles appear under the eyes, a pale, drawn, haggard expression to the countenance and the weakness which accompanies such ailments is evidenced by the lagging step, headaches, backache and nervous conditions. Every woman who is affected in this way should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which for half a century has been overcoming some of the most stubborn ailments of women.

To Apply Budget Surplus to Debt

LONDON, April 30.—A surplus of 48,600,000 pounds sterling (approximately $223,590,000 at the normal pre-war value of the pound) left over from the last budget will be used to reduce Great Britain's debts, Chancellor of the Exchequer Phillip Snowden announced in the house of commons today.

LONDON, April 30.—Parliament reassembled today after the Easter recess with the labor government facing a bitter struggle over the budget and the Irish boundary dispute.

Reparations will be brought up but this does not offer much difficulty as all political factions are supporting the Dawes plan.

"There are strenuous weeks ahead, but I am returning to work full of hope and encouragement," said Premier Ramsay MacDonald.

The cabinet was summoned this morning to give final consideration to the budget labors first budget in the history of England—which Chancellor of the Exchequer Phillip Snowden introduced in commons later in the day.

It was considered probable that the so-called McKenna duties upon foreign motor cars, films, musical instruments and clocks would be lifted entirely or modified.

Liberal members already have announced their intention of opposing such a reduction. Manufacturing interests have opened a campaign in favor of maintaining the McKenna duties in the interest of home industries.

Ohio Woman Said to Be Oldest U. S. Compositor

BRIDGEPORT, O., April 29.—Distinction of being the oldest active newspaper compositor in the United States is claimed by her friends for Mrs. Tillie Ring Hodge, 80, of Tiskilwa, Ill., a native of this (Belmont) county.

She set type for the Chicago Times, telling of the funeral of Abraham Lincoln. Married to W. R. Hodge, Montgomery, Ala., in 1868, she did not resume her newspaper work until after his death, in 1888. She keeps in good physical condition by means of physical culture exercises.

Advice For Mothers

You Cannot Afford to Overlook One Word of This

Cambridge, Ohio—"When my baby was six months old I had gone down in health with inward weakness so that I could not get around to do my housework or care for my baby. I was just about 'down and out' when I started to take Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The first bottle proved to me that I was taking the right medicine and six bottles helped me to get around to do my work as easily as before my illness. Favorite Prescription really did do wonders for me and I am glad to recommend it at every opportunity." Mrs. M. E. Stephenson, 4171 Long St.

TODAY'S BRIGHT SPOT

With other than the ending it really had, this little incident might be anything on earth but a "bright spot." Death, nearly sudden death, and disaster hovered around loose, but never landed Lawrence Hegner, owner of a grocery in Cincinnati, dallied amongst the bananas for a moment or two the other day, filling the order of a customer. He chose a stalk from a number hanging in a corner and as he did, he noticed something fall from the end.

The something-that-fell scurried away, and then Hegner saw that it was a tarantula, that fast moving, very deadly creature with a liking for bananas. It scurried here and there, and clerks scurried, too. There was no time to loose and the weapons at hand were used. They threw cans and boxes, and the tarantula still tarant-ed away. Then the catsup bottles came handy, and those showered on the death-dealing bug. Entangled in the red mess, the tarantula slowed up, like a fast horse on a mud track, and he was doomed. One more bottle and he died, drowned in catsup and bruised by bottles. A lowly death for a proud tarantula, but a bright red one.

ATHENS, April 30—Hereafter school boys in Athens who like to play pool, and are of course more than 18 years old, can be in pool rooms only after school in the afternoon. GLOUSTER, April 30—Orchard men of the Hocking Valley believe that little of the fruit in this region has been seriously damaged by the recent frosts. The orchards are far advanced, and it is admitted that some of the buds on lowland trees may have been injured.

The program for the general sessions is under the supervision of a committee consisting of Dr. S. J. Goodman, Columbus, Dr. E. R. Brush, Zanesville and Dr. Otto P. Geier, Cincinnati.

TILTONVILLE, April 30—Rudolph Ollenar of Little Short Creek, a mining district, was fined by the court after he persisted in trying to persuade a Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad section gang to quit work and join him in a celebration. What the celebration was in honor of, Rudolph didn't say.

NEFFS, April 30—Eastern Ohio Miners Union attorneys have filed suit in Belmont county common pleas court to compel Pultney Township trustees to erect a bridge over a creek here for the benefit of 63 children who cannot now attend the local school. It is claimed that 231 persons are deprived of access to this town by the absence of a bridge.

BLAINEVILLE, April 30—Within 15 hours after Joe Bell had accused John Yujuokochek of stealing his watch, Yujurkochek had filed suit for $5000 damage to his reputation by the alleged slander. The charge was made in the presence of friends at a dance and next morning saw the suit on file in Belmont county common pleas court.

Kaluger contended Pareno was at fault in leaving the pistol where the child could get it.

SHIELDING WILL SHARPEN TUNING

Will Also Eliminate Body Capacity Effects

You may have noticed that it is possible to disconnect your aerial and ground entirely and still hear strong local signals. This fact seems to puzzle a great many people. Many fans complain of inability to tune out such and such stations located only a few miles away. "Why I hear them without an aerial even," is the usual statement.

There is a good reason for this. The waves sent out by the broadcasting station penetrate the walls of your home and pass even thru the bakelite panel and the wooden cabinet housing your receiver. The wave cuts thru the windings of your tuner and induces a current in your receiver in the same manner as a loop or coil aerial functions.

Let's see if this phenominon has any bearing on some of the difficulties you are having in tuning, such as cutting out the local stations and tuning in out of town stations.

If you will completely shield the cabinet and panel of your radio set and connect this shield to ground you will find that you are no longer able to hear the local station when the aerial and ground are disconnected. You will also find that the tuning of the local station is a great deal sharper and you will not hear their signals all over the dial as you formerly did.

This is because the waves are no longer able to cut the inductance of the tuner. The metal shield you have placed around the tuner receives this energy instead and it is connected to ground.

Shielding will also eliminate body capacity effects If you have an unshielded receiving set you undoubtedly know what body capacity does. When tuning in your hand becomes a party of the capacity of your receiving set so that when a distant station is brot in and you remove your hand to sit back and enjoy the music, the music fades out. When you replace your hand on the dial it comes back in again.

A shield placed back of the panel and grounded will eliminate this trouble. Tomorrow I will describe several methods of shielding.

WEEKS FAVORS SHOALS LEASE ON CONDITION OF FAVORABLE TERMS

WASHINGTON, April 30—Secretary of War Weeks declared today in emphatic terms that instead of being opposed to leasing Muscle Shoals to civilians, he was heartily in favor of it, but that he knew the U S. could get more for the big wartime project than any offer that had yet been made.

Operated by a push button by the motorman, a device for street cars has been patented that announces streets and prominent buildings as they are approached.

been associating with men unknown to the defendant.

She obtained an injunction restraining him from disposing of any of his property, the defendant states, and then carried away bedding and other personal property belonging to the defendant.

The defendant believes she never intended to live with him but married him solely to bring about just such proceedings in the hope of obtaining enough money therefrom to establish her independence.

It was requested by Bergman that the plaintiff's petition be dismissed, that the injunction issued against him be dissolved, that he be granted a divorce on his cross petition, and that she be barred on any claim to his property.

Personal Finances of the Presidents

By W. E. CHANCELLOR

JAMES MONROE

The President Who Never Had Any Wealth

Born on April 28, 1753, of poor but free Virginia planters, James Monroe had no prospects of inheritance. He managed, however, to get a year in William and Mary College before becoming a soldier of the Revolution. He fought under the eyes of Washington, and at Trenton was wounded.

In one way and another, Monroe kept body and soul together as soldier and small office-holder. Nevertheless, he had the courage to marry into high social position. His bride was a niece of Major General Henry Knox, whom President Washington made Secretary of War in his Cabinet. Her name was Eliza Kortwright, and she lived in New York. She had no dowry.

After diplomatic service abroad in genteel poverty, and at last a Cabinet Secretaryship under President Madison at $3.500 a year (equal to $17,500 now, which is more than present Secretaries receive) Monroe became President, and from 1817 till 1825 earned $25,000 a year. But he was poor in purse, ill-favored in appearance, and not graceful in manners or vigorous and fluent of speech; and his snobbish contemporaries wrote him down as not much of a President. Yet he got the Spaniards out of Florida and Louisiana, and he kept the Russians out of Mexico; and his voting electorate liked him so well that he was reelected in the Electoral College in 1821 by all but one of the votes.

The "tall and eel-like Monroe" was what some of his critics styled him, but the people called him time "the era of good feeling."

James Monroe was the best administrative President between Washington and Lincoln. He issued to the world "the Monroe Doctrine" and was a statesman. But he had no time and no thought for his own financial affairs, and retired from the White House almost penniless. Soon he was selling books in New York city from door to door, and his wife was living with her sons-in-law, which James Monroe, the Virginian, was too proud to do.

Mrs. Monroe died in 1830, and her husband one year later on Independence Day, which John Adams and Thomas Jefferson had written into history and he himself had fought and bled to establish. They also died on Independence Day. Neither Monroe nor his wife had any serious illness They had friends and kindred and invitations to make visits, which indeed the old man occasionally did in Virginia. But they were homeless and broken-hearted accordingly because they could not live together and away from others when they pleased

As soldier, Monroe earned from $3 to $6 a month. As member of Congress, he had $6 a day for about one hundred days a year. All his life-earnings were about $260,000. From unearned incomes, he had nothing to help him.

COOLIDGE AND SMITH STRONG IN BAY STATE

BOSTON, April 30 The election as Democratic delegates-at-large of Brig. Gen H Cole who has pledged himself to support Governor Smith, of New York in the presidential race and the defeat of Dwight MacCormack, candidate for the Republican delegation who had announced himself in support of Senator Hiram Johnson, were regarded today as the outstanding features o fthe state primaries

MacCormack's defeat enabled the Republicans to send a solid block of 39 Coolidge delegates to Cleveland

The selection of Cole, who was second in the list of eight delegates-at-large, chosen by the Democrats, (Senator David I Walsh headed the ticket) was interperted by political soothsayers today as a tangible proof of Smith's strength among Massachusetts Democrats. Voting was extremely light.

LAWRENCE'S LETTER

Good Government Sought by League of Women Voters—Convention Held in Buffalo—Party Lines Are Ignored

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 30—The strangest national convention of the year 1924 is being held here. Alongside of it the Republican national convention at Cleveland the Democratic national convention in New York would afford a remarkable contrast.

For here are gathered delegates who are interested in principles and not parties. In the two major conventions will be assembled delegates interested in men and political parties. There is no partisanship in the National League of Women Voters. Nor is there any attempt to pass judgment on existing controversies in congress. But the background of these controversies, the principles which are fundamental in them, are being studied here. And the whole convention may be described as a university extension course. It is by far the most intelligent effort that has yet been made in America to preach Democracy in practical terms and educate the voter to the use of the ballot.

The objective of the League of Women Voters this year is to urge 75 percent of the eligible women voters of the nation to go to the polls. The League itself will not tell them how to vote, what party or candidates to endorse. But anyone who attends the meetings of the various state and city leagues or reads the bulletins and publications issued by them has been educated sufficiently to render an individual judgment.

The league's sole aim is good government—intelligent and efficient administration What some men's organizations have taken generations to accomplish in the way of advancing certain progressive movements, the League of Women Voters has in four years achieved. Reports from the state and county organizations show that the natural inquisitiveness of women has resulted in regular interrogatories to candidates so that the voter can determine what those who seek public office really stand for. The searchlight of scrutiny has been turned in individual records. The awakening of the women of the nation to their power in the use of the ballot is proceeding with remarkable success. Each year shows an increased number of active workers in local communities.

The national convention which has been in session for several days has gone along harmoniously because in no instance has it invaded the domain of political parties. The league, however, has not confined itself entirely to abstract principles for it has gone on record unequivocally in favor of the entry of the United States into the permanent court of international justice according to the Harding-Hughes proposals which recently won the endorsement of President Coolidge.

Resolutions also have been formulated in support of such action as would permit the United States government to send representatives to "act on international economic committees and international conferences." Also the League favors measures of disarmament by international agreement, particularly with reference "to naval, military, aviation, gas and chemical warfare."

Not the least important of the recommendations incidentally is one that has only recently been agitated, but which is of paramount importance in an era of open diplomacy, namely "measures to secure prompt publication of state department reports."

Apart from the foregoing recommendations for legislation, the League of Women Voters has reserved for study the problem of reparations, the league of nations, the Bok peace plan and the whole question of American foreign policy with respect to the Philippines, the Monroe doctrine and Europe generally. Among the topics is one relating to a constitutional amendment whereby treaties may be ratified by majority instead of two thirds vote. After numerous round table discussions, reports will be made on these questions.

Apart from current events, the whole organization here has begun an intensive work of education in governmental affairs, citizenship, social hygiene, child welfare, and efficiency in government with concrete recommendations for legislation in each. Indeed, attending the convention here where there is absence of personal and party ambition, is a breath of fresh air in a season of congressional smoke.

EASTERN OHIO LEAGUE NEWS

Jim aughn, of Akron, who twirled one game for the Cambridge Afefas, has quit that club, it has been reported. It was reported in Cambridge last Sunday thatVaughn had a sore arm and could not pitch the contest between Coshocton and the Afefas. Later it was reported aughn had pitched a Sunday game for the Akron General Tires.

Mendels Come Expecting to Defeat "Regs"

"Don't let any of your 'regulars' lay off Sunday, because my Columbus Mendels expect to beat your club by a big score," said Manager Ansel, of the capital city ball club in his letter to the local management Tuesday.

The attraction at Lake Park Sunday will be between the Mendels and Regulars. The game will start at 2:30 p. m. It will be the second home game and the third of the season. Coshocton's percentage now is .500, having won and lost a game.

If the weather is favorable a record crowd is expected to see this game. Last season Coshocton had rough sledding with the Mendels until the latter part of the season, at which time the Franklinco boys were not so tough. They have a strong club this season, which was defeated only after a hard battle by the Walkermen of Zanesville last Sunday. The score in that game was 7 to 4.

The following review of the personnel of the team will introduce each Mendel to Coshocton fans.

Jim "Red" Crossin is the Mendels new catcher. He was formerly with clubs in Dayton and in Cincinnati. He hits well and is a good receiver, taking the place of Friend, who caught last summer.

Big "Les" Griffith is still with the club. He is considered Manager Ansel's star hurler.

A new hurler for the Mendels is Eddie Donalds, who has played the last four seasons with Waco, in the Texas League. He is expected to start against Coshocton Sunday.

Neer is playing first base, the same position he filled last season. Myres is stationed at second. "Red" Koblens retains his old position at short field.

The same infield as last year has started out this year. This will mark the fifth consecutive year for the Mendel infielders.

Here is the batting order of the Mendels for Sunday: Lewis, 3b; Myres, 2b, Schell, rf, Keblens, ss, Neer, 1b, Moore, cf, Fishbaugh, lf, Crossin, catcher; Donalds and Griffith, pitchers.

Tilden Offered Place in Ranks of 'Pro' Players

(By DAVIS J. WALSH)
I. N. S. Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, April 30—A new development in the internal war featuring William Tilden versus the United States lawn tennis association, was made public today with the announcement that Briarcliff Lodge of Briarcliff Manor, New York, had tendered an offer to Tilden to turn "pro" at a salary "commensurate with your standing as the foremost tennis player in the world."

Those making the offer, forwarded to Tilden by wire, were at some pain to make clear the fact that it was not their wish to tempt the champion unless the tennis associations plan to bar Tilden under the player-writer rule became actual.

The proposition afforded the first concrete evidence of a plan afoot to raise professional tennis to the status now enjoyed by professional golf. Briarcliff Lodge is the same organization that employs Gene Sarazen, leading American professional golfer at a salary estimated at somewhere between $10,000 and $15,000 a year. They say it with greenbacks in that locality.

The text of the offer to Tilden follows.

"Briarcliff Lodge desires to negotiate with you for your services should you decide to become a professional. The 900 members of Briarcliff Lodge deeply deplore the possibility of your withdrawing from amateur competition and trust that this action may not be necessary. We feel, however that the splendid efforts you have made toward popularizing the game of tennis might be continued as professional at this club, and the inducements we are prepared to offer are commensurate with your standing as the foremost tennis player in the world."

The message was signed by Chauncey Depew Steele, whose name as manager of the organization stands for dough and dollars and leaves no doubt whatever that a determined effort will be made to launch professional tennis on a new born career if the tennis association fails to recede from the stand that has caused the resignation of both Tilden and Vincent Richards.

Early today Tilden had not been in receipt of the message of good cheer at his Philadelphia home and therefore, declined to comment on the offer. He, however, did not hesitate to make himself clear as to just how he stood on the professional issue.

"Personally I do not favor professional tennis," he declared. "I consider myself an amateur and would prefer to remain such even tho I could probably treble my income by joining out-and-out professional ranks.

"I feel that the entire situation is being anticipated. The player-writer rule does not go into effect until January 1, so I intend to play in the national championships this season. Perhaps, by that time, sentiment against the rule will have crystalized. I have been informed that the West Side tennis club proposes to review the matter. If such a move goes thru, I infinitely prefer to remain in amateur ranks."

Kelly Strong in Box and Wields Stick, is Claim

"Lefty" Kelly, the former burly General Tires' star hurler will be pitted against the fast Columbus Mendels in Sunday's game at Lake Park, was the word from the Regulars' camp Wednesday.

Local fans will have their first opportunity Sunday to see this big boy in action the local management said Wednesday. Kelly has been practicing with the General Tires and pitched a few innings last week with that combination to get himself into shape.

Kelly has had professional baseball experience. He was in the South League a while and for the past few seasons has been a member of the General Tires of Akron. He defeated the Massillon Agathons the day before the Agathons came here last season.

The big Akron player is also a heavy hitter and can be depended upon to do some swatting for the Regulars.

The battery for Sunday's game will probably be Griffith and Crossin for Columbus, Kelly and Hildebrandt for Coshocton.

Seats to the grandstand will be on sale Thursday.

Lewis Wins Bout from Italian by Lucky Last Fall

CHICAGO, April 30.—Champion Ed Lewis still slung to his heavyweight wrestling title today after taking severe punishment from Mike Romano, of Italy in a bout which ended in a riot last night.

Lewis was worn and almost helpless just before the third and deciding fall.

The Italian, the aggressor, slipped and as he fell, Lewis was upon him with a double wrist lock, winning the fall in 8 70.

Lewis won the first in 41 20 with a toe hold. Romano the second with a headlock in 12 50.

Pop bottles showered into the ring and police swung a cordon around the fatigued champion to protect him from injury at the hands of Romano's partisans. The Italian's manager took a swing at the referee before he was restrained.

Tagging The Bases

Grover Cleveland Alexander had nothing whatever to do with the fact that the Cubs defeated the Pirates 2 to 1, except he stopped the Pirates with eight hits and socked a double off Meadows in the eleventh, scoring the winning run.

In one of those go-as-you-please pastimes the Red Sox went further and funnier than the Senators and won by the slight matter of 15 to 6. The Senators used 18 ball players, some of whom seemed to be guilty of taking money under false pretenses.

The Cards clustered base hits off Luque and beat the Reds, 6 to 3. Gonzales accounting for four of the runs with two doubles. One of them came in the eighth with the bases clogged.

Thurston managed to last to the wire, in spite of pinch hitter Wingo's homer in the ninth and the White Sox won the decision over the Tigers 6 to 4. Dauss collapsed in the eighth, the Sox scoring thrice.

Stribling Wins Over M. Burke

NEW YORK, April 30—The Olympic fund benefitted by $45,669 last night as Young Stribling and Paul Berlenbach, leading contenders for the light heavyweight title, added to their reputations by coming thru on the bit to easy victories over Mike Burke and Harold Abbott, respectively.

Stribling left handed Burke to death for six rounds and gained a hollow decision over the Greenwich village strong man.

Berlenbach added to his lengthy knockout record by stopping Abbott in the fourth round the referee halting the bout to save the loser from further punishment.

In addition to winning Stribling further endeared himself to the fans by contributing $500 toward the fund. Jack Zivic, who gained a decision over Ever Hammer, gave a similar amount.

"Colleges Polish Pebbles and Dim Diamonds" Quotes Maxim

Inventor of Explosives Says He Never Studied Ancient Assyrian

"As Robert Ingersoll said, 'College is a place where pebbles are polished and diamonds are dimmed.' I never studied the ancient Assyrian languages, and I haven't felt the lack of them. The greatest philosophy of life is that which most thoroughly educated man is can be put to the best use, and the the mostthoroughly educated man is the most useful."

This quotation presents, in the words of Hudson Maxim, the famous inventor of explosives and a greatly successful man, the scope of The New Universities Dictionary, being distributed by this paper, exclusively to readers. Men and women, boys or girls, who utilize the information in this most notable book will acquire, without expense, a complete education. Study of this book will polish and refine anybody's speech and writing. It will give familiarity with all the special activities in the world today. The twenty-two supplementary dictionaries will give a reader specialized information on almost any subject.

The illustrations will familiarize the eye with new inventions and newly discovered countries. Full pages and double pages appear in color.

What One Reads Counts

BECAUSE a man has the reputation of being "well read" does not mean that he reads omnivorously. Franklin is often pictured as a man who read everything he could acquire. even taking time from his work to read. But in Franklin's day literature had not been commercialized to the extent to which it is today and only the very best thot on any subject ever found its way into type.

It is worse than a waste of time to read much of the diatribe that is today printed for the dollars a gullible public will pay for it It not only serves no worthy purpose but inculcates a perverted viewpoint of the fundamental facts of life itself. The number of things which it is desirable to read is so large and the average person's leisure so limited that much discrimination should be exercised in the selection of reading matter.

There is such a thing, also, as excessive reading of books to which no objection can be raised. It may cause mental indigestion. In some persons it is not conductive to original thinking, since they get in the habit of depending on the things which they find in print instead of working out problems for themselves.

It is best to choose reading matter carefully and deliberately, and to read carefully and with full understanding. The quality of what is perused is what counts, not the quantity.

Grammar And Tongue

SCHOOL CHILDREN who struggle in their grammar lessons with such terrifying octupi as "attributive complement." "predicate adjective," "anticipatory verb," and other equally mystifying specimens of grammar terminology should be glad to learn that according to a recent writer on the subject, "English grammar, as it is now taught, should be dropped entirely from our schools."

Against the formal teaching of grammar as a "thing of laws. rules. ordinances, by-laws and exceptions; an unscientific, illogical, inflexible dictum, which forces children to decline nouns in cases which do not exist, to conjugate verbs in tenses, moods and voices which long since have ceased to be, and to make adjectives agree with nouns when agreement is neither necessary nor possible"—against all this emphasizing of the letter and killing of the spirit the writer makes a strong case.

Perhaps the discarding of mental gymnastics would come as a relief to the teacher no less than to the pupil. Almost every teacher who is at all familiar with the speech habits of school children outside of the class room has seen the futility of the empty drilling and parrot-like reciting of the grammar hour. It is now admitted on all sides that we have in the past over-emphasized parsing and conjugating and that more recent device for the torture of the school child's mind, known as diagramming. This is evidenced by the fact that the teaching of grammar as it was practiced 25 or 30 years ago has been supplanted in a large measure by methods less irksome and more fruitful to both teacher and pupil.

We can not afford to be less diligent in our efforts to correct slovenly speech habits and to preserve the purity and effectiveness of a language in which is written so much of the world's best literature, and which is the most widely used tongue in the world. If it is our intention to preserve the English language, and not merely to pad a school curriculum, it should be impressed upon the pupil that cultural and commercial opportunity depends in a great part on one's knowledge of his mother tongue and on a desire to use this knowledge to the best of his ability.

Slovenly speech, the pupil should be made to understand, is as likely to bring the user of it into disrpeute as is slovenly appearance in the matter of clothes. To this end the home can greatly assist the school.

Not A Gift, A Bribe

VAST quantities of newspaper comment have grown out of the recent speech by Senator Borah attacking as "simply intolerable" the common practice of "vast concerns of business" in making huge political campaign contributions. He showed that in the 1920 campaign the Republicans expended more than $9,000,000 and the Democrats only a little less than $3,000,000.

Why the newspapers should get excited over this condition, bad as it is, is puzzling. It is not a new condition. Compared to our total wealth then and now, quite as much was spent in financing political campaigns twenty, thirty, forty years ago as now. We have grown better, if anything, in this respect. There certainly is not the open, brazen bribery and political corruption today that there was a generation ago.

We are not saying this by way of excuse for the use of money in elections today We are merely at a loss to understand why the press should express so much astonishment about a condition that has always existed and, so long as our government is conducted as it is now and for a long time has been, cannot help but exist. Instead of expressing wonder why so much money should be expended in all our national elections, it would be a cause for greater wonder if the use of money should be materially lessened

The campaign contributions of the "vast concerns of business" are simply bribery. That is plainly their intention and intent determines guilt. The man who pays a bribe pays for an act performed or promised. The campaign contributor has [illegible] special interest before the bar of the government and while he may not in words exact a promise he certainly creates an obligation and has a right to expect future delivery.

The thing then, obviously to do is not to raise a hue and cry about the moral rottenness of our political conditions and demand the enactment of laws to put an end to it, but to remove the conditions which create a natural meeting of the minds of those in control of the government and the heads of these "vast concerns of business" in which a monetary payment on the part of the latter creates a sense of obligation on the part of the former. Debts of this kind, while there may be no written obligation to pay, are nevertheless often more rigorously honored than honest debts.

The big protected industries of New England and Pennsylvania have always contributed to national campaign funds when they felt the need of tariff revision upward. If they give liberally to campaign funds it is with the expectation of getting back thru the taxing power, which has really been sold to them, dollars in enhanced prices where they contributed dimes for the election of like-minded congressmen and Presidents. Is it possible that sane representatives and senators expect to pass a law which will stop this time honored custom?

They do not, but this is a year of general elections and all sorts of political sedatives are being fed to the voters. To say that a law can be passed prohibiting the beneficiaries of the tariff, for example, from contributing to the election of Mr. Coolidge, a high tariff advocate, is about on a level with telling the farmers in 1920 that the price of wheat would be boosted for them by the passage of an "emergency tariff" of which the afrmer was to be largely the chief beneficiary.

So long as the taxing power of the nation is for sale quadriennially there will be bidders for it. A thousand laws on the subject would not check those craving the power of levying indirect taxes on a hundred million people from contributing millions to the campaign funds of those who, if elected, will deliver the goods. Laws in cases of this kind are absolutely valueless. What is needed is an aroused public sentiment against this form of governmental bargain and sale between governmental officials and special interests.

Dissolve this corrupt alliance and there will be no need for more laws. It is the old story of legalizing a moral and an economic wrong and then crying for the enactment of more laws to punish those whose only crime has been to take advantage of an unjustifiable condition we ourselves have created. If we want to do anything it would be better to create a sensitive national conscience which will call this corrupt alliance between special interests and the federal government by its right name—bribery.

New York Day-by-Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 30.—There is a play in town that has an especial appeal for New Yorkers because it mirrors a type of young man peculiar to the land of cliff dwellers. The play is called "The Show Off" The hero is the wisecracking youth whose metier is to "talk big and lie."

He may be holding down a $30 a week clerical job but in his apartment house or any other limited area where he moves he has a halo. He sports the knobbiest clothes of the one flight ups. He wears a carnation in his lapel at all times.

He is given to tossing his head back to place his hair, shooting his cuffs and spouting the latest slang of the day. Nothing daunts him. He is fresh every hour. Ambition ends with the ability to make a "front." He calls his girl "the blue serge" and always has inside stock market dope

He is the metropolitan replica of the village smart alec New York is oddly suited for his harmless four-flushing He can exaggerate with abandon and no one will take the time to check him up. Street cars, avenue coach tops and theatre lobbies are his habitat.

There he can talk for the benefit of those around him. He wallows in his own grandeur. Marine knowledge may include a ferry trip to Hoboken but he tells of ocean trips on huge liners. He just got back "Rough weather in a rotten little tub," he sprightly adds

He calls John Drew "Jack" and Maud Adams "Maudie" The fact he is unable to make an impression does not bother him. Many of them have cards printed at while-you-wait printing shops to give impression they are president of some fictitious corporation or that they are connected with the stage

Their attitude is a spirit that New York engenders—the longing among the obscure to be noticed. It is hereditary Manhattanese to seek the center of the stage.

Over in Brooklyn the other day Charles Kruger died. Two and three line notices in the press heralded his demise Back in '71 Kruger was the member of the Farthest North Polar expedition. His ship was wrecked and he and his hardy fellow adventurers drifted about on an ice floe for many tempestuous weeks. For the past fifty years Kruger has piloted a ferryboat on the Hudson.

New Yorkers refuse to discourage street begging despite the fact that 18 years of welfare research work has failed to find a deserving street mendicant. Just now the town is overrun with beggars — there are two and three to almost every block Cripples bare the stumps of arms and legs and whine their woe. They seem pitiful objects yet it is declared that there are any numbers of charitable institutions ready and willing to supply them at all times with artificial arms and legs and have fairly good jobs awaiting. Still they beg. The answer is plain. A street beggar by merely holding out his palm to passersby is able to make from $100 to $150 a week working five or six hours a day. So, they reason, why should they work.

Cissie Loftus on her recent visit here become the toast of the town The former London beauty showed such a remarkable regeneration that society took her up. She is perhaps the most versatile of all comediennes. Her imitative bits are amazing. Still there is about her a brooding sadness that makes one laugh with a lump in the throat. Several times I saw her walking alone on quiet streets in midtown She seemed lost in midtown. She seemed lost in reverie—trying to rout no doubt the ghosts of the past.

WALT MASON

THE WRONG JOB

I watched the blithe mechanic who toiled around my bus, he showed no signs of panic, he made no grievous fuss. He whistled "Annie Rooney" while mussing in the grease, a task that drives me looney, and undermines my peace. Long since I used to tinker, at season, with my boat; it made my temper pinker, and always got my goat; I labored with a hammer and wrenches round and flat, and then I'd yell and yammer and dance upon my hat. I dished up language hectic until I fell a prey to seizures apoplectic that took my breath away. But wisdom comes with watching the years go by in flocks; no longer am I botching my flivver when it balks; my peace of mind I cherish far more than precious stones; before I'd see it perish I'd dig up fifteen bones. And so when my old Lizzie declines to up and go, no more do I get busy with hammer, wrench or crow; I summon the mechanic, and say to him, "Gee whiz, my van is also-rantic—see what the trouble is" And so I am not wearing my temper to a shred; I miss a lot of swearing. In paths of peace I tread. Far better pay the plumber to fix your eight-day clock than toil around all summer and sweat and cuss and knock. I call up Jinks the Joiner to mend my doors and sills; I send for Copps the coiner, when needing dollar bills. I send for Simms the sawyer, when sawing should prevail. I send for Loots the lawyer to keep me out of jail.

WOMAN DIVES FOR VAST TREASURES IN SPANISH GALLEON.

Margaret Naylor, Great Britain's first woman deep-sea diver, is making renewed attempts to get 30,000,000 gold "pieces of eight" from the Spanish galleon "Admiral of Florence," sunk in Tobermory Bay, on the west coast of Scotland, in November, 1588. In 1913 Colonel Foss recovered pewter dishes, coins and other relics from the wreck. Miss Naylor has found that three feet of clay cover the poop of the ship. This will be sluiced away and an attempt made to raise the vessel. This photographic representation of a historic painting shows how the galleon appeared before it went down. This oyster, recently recovered from the ship, is the oldest in the world. Oysters were imported from South America at the time of the Spanish Armada, and the commander of the galleon had a supply on board when his ship went down.

M'ADOO'S HOPES SHATTERED BY COX VICTORY, DEMS. SAY

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES

WASHINGTON, April 30—Jas. M. Cox, who led the hosts of Democracy to defeat in 1920, has been dealt a hand in the game of high strategy and shrewd tactics that will be played at Madison Square Garden in June to select an opponent for Calvin Coolidge.

This was the principal reaction today of Democratic leaders in the capital to the results of the Ohio primary, wherein the former governor easily defeated William Gibbs McAdoo and captured control of Ohio's large delegation to the Democratic national convention

How prominently the candidacy of Gov. Cox himself will figure in the convention is a matter on which there is a considerable divergence of opinion among leading Democrats in Washington. But the principal thing, they agreed, is that Governor Cox is going to make his influence felt in the conferences and counsels at New York that must inevitably take place before any candidate can secure the necessary two-thirds to nominate.

In some quarters in Washington the victory of Cox over McAdoo in Ohio was looked upon today as greatly strengthening the formidable group in the convention that has turned thumbs down on McAdoo and will fight his nomination to the last ditch and beyond

There is a distinctly friendly feeling existent between the Cox managers and the Tammany Brennan-Taggart combination. This group played no small part in the nomination of the former governor at San Francisco in 1920 after many weary hours of deadlock and the Ohio Democrats who led Cox's fight have been frateful accordingly

The Ohio delegation at New York is expected to vote for Cox in the early balloting and if it then becomes apparent that the former governor has no chance of again bearing the standard, it would not be surprising to Democratic observers here to see Ohio strength line up with that of New York, Indiana, Illinois, New Jersey and possibly Pennsylvania and Massachusetts for whatever candidate can be united upon

GRAZING INJURES FARM WOODLOTS

Pasturing the farm woods is an unprofitable and injurious practice. [illegible] 50 per cent of the farm woods [illegible] Ohio have been injured in this way according to estimates by Edmund Secrest, state forester.

The source of the forage is largely the young trees which are thus destroyed. Cattle and sheep browse the young seedlings, destroy the undergrowth, and thus bring about conditions unfavorable for the growth of the older trees. The trampling of livestock destroys many of the fine tree roots and the grass robs them of the required moisture. The effect is seen in the dying tree tops in pastured woodlots.

At best grazing the woods is unprofitable, for a woodland pasture is poor posture, and a pastured woods is not a real forest. Grasses in the woods are sparse, unpalatable, and lack the nutritive value of those which grow out in the open.

gardening and dairying will develop with the cities. With dairying will come the need for more legumes, and probably a decline in the production of wheat and oats.

Northwestern section. Industrial development will continue to be slow. Corn and hogs will lead in importance with more attention to wheat, oats and soybean standardization, and to alfalfa, sweet clover and sugar beets.

Northeastern section. As the industrial population continues to increase rapidly, dairying, truck crop and potato production will become ever more important. There will be fewer farmers and a decreased area in farms. More legumes, lime, fertilizer and improved pastures will be in demand.

ination for vice-president got 429.

The vote was exceptionally light, many candidates getting but one vote in a precinct, and many none at all. The county vote averaged about three times that of the city, and the Republican vote in the entire county, including the city, ran about one-third greater than the Democratic vote.

The complete official count of the votes for delegates to the state convention had not been started at press time Wednesday afternoon but all other counts were practically complete. Votes for state delegates will be counted late Wednesday afternoon and announced Thursday.

Simeon D. Fess lead with the highest number of votes among the Republican candidates for delegate-at-large to the state convention, Charles L. Knight was second and Frank B. Willis third. All three are Coolidge men. Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, was fifth in line.

Among the Democratic candidates for delegate-at-large, Etta Evans Cleveland held the highest total, with Atlee Pomerene second and T. J. Duffy third. Cleveland is a McAdoo delegate and the other two are Cox men.

Rybolt and Watkins, both Coolidge men, ended far in lead of their two opponents, Davis and Earle, in the race for election as delegate to the Republican national convention, and the Cox candidates, for delegates to the Democratic convention, Jackson and Neville, held an easy lead over Horton and Stephinson.

COLUMBUS, April 30.—President Calvin Coolidge, backed by the regular Republican organization thruout the state, has swept Ohio over Senator Hiram Johnson, for the Republican presidential endorsement by a majority of approximately 150,000, it was estimated on the basis of figures received and tabulated at the office of the secretary of state here today, showing returns from nearly 7,000 of the 8,350 precincts in the state.

On the face of the same returns governor James M. Cox, Democratic presidential candidate in 1920, had a majority of 50,000 over William Gibbs McAdoo, of California, his primary opponent.

While the vote for delegate-at-large did not measure up to that received on the preferential ballot all of the Coolidge and Cox slates including former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, storm center of a bitter personal and fractional warfare, were safely elected.

Tabulation of unofficial returns from 6,759 precincts give: Coolidge, 144,069; Johnson, 23,842; Cox 62,016, McAdoo 23,574

Returns from 6,867 precincts give Coolidge candidates for delegates-at-large. Battelle, 103,793; Daugherty, 97,613; Fess, 119,196; Knight, 112,715; Procter 110,876; Tod, 106,154; Willis, 115,770.

Brooder Pneumonia Causes Chick Loss

Heavy loss of young chicks is often due to brooder pneumonia, a disease caused by dusty or moldy litter, musty feed, or severe exposure.

Brooder pneumonia is sometimes associated with bacillary white diarrhea as the symptoms of the two diseases are much alike. The diseased chicks often breathe with difficulty, the lungs are usually diseased, and are found, upon opening dead birds, to be of a dark color and rather solid instead of light pink color and fluffy.

The only remedy is to remove the cause. D. C. Kennard, poultryman at the Ohio Experiment Station, suggests clean sand as probably the best floor covering for the brooder during the first two weeks, followed by a litter of some kind. But Mr. Kennard would be especially careful that the litter is free from must or mold. Clover chaff if not dusty, or bright clean straw may be used; or perhaps clean planer shavings are better than either chaff or straw.

Teacher Sought in Poison Case

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 30.—State troops and police today were seeking Miss Mildred E. Beam, pretty high school teacher of Elizabeth, N. J., whom District Attorney Arthur Rowland declares he considers an important witness in his investigation into the habits of Clarence O. Baring held here without bail on charges of attempting to kill his wife.

A subpoena has been issued for the slim, blonde teacher, who is 27 years old and a graduate of teachers college, Columbia University and who disappeared from her home with her mother Monday after Baring's indictment.

After Miss Beam had held several talks over the long distance telephone with an attorney she slipped away from home with her mother without a word of explanation to the school authorities as to her destination or when she would return.

England to Lift McKenna Duties

LONDON, April 30.—The friendly reception of the labor government's first budget placed the MacDonald cabinet in a stronger position today.

The only fly in the ointment was the announcement that the McKenna duties, protecting British manufacturers of musical instruments, clocks and films, would be lifted August 1, allowing free influx of foreign goods.

Leaders of both the labor and liberal parties said they were well pleased with the budget, the liberals claiming it is a sign that the laborites are willing to co-operate with them.

Leaders of the liberal party meet this afternoon to decide upon a definite policy while the tories will meet tomorrow.
